- Coming Unstuck

We would like these rehabilitation kits to help as many people as possible, so the Adult Rehabilitation Kits may be shared openly for fair usage. However, MED-EL retains full rights to the material, so the content may not be altered, rebranded, or repurposed for commercial use.

Learn About The Session Plans

indicates auditory training goals

indicates auditory and cognitive processing goals

indicates integrating hearing into lifestyle goals

Note: This Adult Rehabilitation Kit is for a new listener or a listener developing confidence with their hearing technology. If you are unsure where to start, simply begin at Level 1. All recipients will benefit from all activities, even if they seem simple at first. This helps build listening endurance and confidence.

How to choose a level

	3		FPR
Level 1	The recipient is learning to discriminate words of differing syllable number.  The recipient is learning to understand words when they are at the end of a sentence and when they have differing acoustic characteristics.	The recipient needs support with activities which involve aspects of auditory and cognitive processing. Auditory memory tasks are challenging.	The recipient is working along their journey to life using a hearing implant and is developing confidence in communicating in their wider world.  Support is needed to develop communication strategies.
Level 2	The recipient is learning to discriminate words of the same syllable number with differing acoustic characteristics.  The recipient is learning to understand words when they are in multiple places in a sentence and when they have similar acoustic characteristics.	The recipient can complete some activities which involve auditory and cognitive processing.

Tips

This material is suitable for recipients who have had their hearing device fitted or cochlear implant processor switched on for a period of two weeks or more.

Check the recipient's hearing at the beginning of every rehabilitation session using the Ling Six Sound Test.

- Find a strategy for giving the recipient instructions for each activity. You might need to write the instructions down or you can use the instructions on these pages and point to the words as you read them.
- Ensure that the recipient understands all the information that is provided throughout the session. For example, if you speak to another family member, ensure that the recipient can access what was said. It may be necessary to write it down. It is important for the recipient to be included and valued as a participant in all discussions throughout the session.
- It is often helpful to do a trial of each activity together to ensure the recipient knows what they are required to do. Building confidence in recipients is important. Remember that activities that are easy are still useful to build confidence and increase listening endurance. Do not rush to harder activities.
- When using paper or a hand to limit visual access, be sure a good auditory signal is received. Ensure the sound is not muffled by the screen.
- Remember that the activities can be tiring for the recipient. Ensure there are some breaks between activities when the recipient can relax (e.g., getting a drink of water, stretching) before beginning the next activity.
- For Hearing Lifestyle activities, easy access to information is recommended. This can be achieved by allowing access to lip-reading or by reading the information.

Present activities
1. LISTEN	Auditory alone (use a screen over the mouth)
2. LISTEN LOOK	Auditory-visual (allow lip-reading)
3. LISTEN LOOK READ	Auditory-visual + written word (allow lip-reading and reading the text)

4. What Do They Like Doing?

BINGO

EXPECTED OUTCOMES

Level 1:

 Identifies words of differing syllable number or same syllable number with differing sounds; small set

Level 2:

 Identifies words of differing syllable number or same syllable number with similar sounds; large set

Bingo boards and cards are used. Print the Shared Page twice. Cut one page in half, giving one to the recipient and keeping one for yourself. Cut the other copy into cards. Shuffle the cards from both bingo boards together and place them face down in a pile.

- 1. Take one of the cards from the pile and read it.
- 2. If a player has the word on their board, cross it off or place something on it to mark the square.
- 3. When one player has covered all the words in a line, they say Line.
- 4. When one player has covered all the words in all the squares they say Bingo and are declared the winner.

BARRIER GAME

EXPECTED OUTCOMES

Level 1:

 Listens to, remembers, and acts on simple sentences containing two key elements

Level 2:

 Listens to, remembers, and acts on varied sentences containing two or more key elements

Print the resources, making two copies of the Shared Pages. One is for the recipient and one is for yourself. Cut out the pictures.

- 1. Place a barrier between the players so that they cannot see each other's resources.
- 2. The speaker reads the sentences and both the recipient and speaker carry out the action.
- 3. Check to see if the recipient has carried out the action correctly.

COMING UNSTUCK

EXPECTED OUTCOMES

Level 1:

 Uses repair strategies in a structured conversation about family

Level 2:

 Uses repair strategies in an unstructured conversation about family

Repair strategies within conversation are practised in this activity. Repair strategies are ways in which the recipient can trouble shoot the situation when a conversation becomes stuck due to a misunderstanding or lack of understanding. The activity includes step-by-step topics that can be discussed to help structure the conversation.

The flowers are in the bathroom.

The knitting is in the bedroom.

The bow and arrow are in the garage.

The telescope is in the bedroom.

The fishing rod is in the garage.

Put the book in the bathroom where it belongs.

You can play chess in the living room today.

The remote and the telescope are in the bedroom.

The archery set and the fishing rod must stay in the garage please.

The knitting goes in the living room, and the flowers go in the bedroom.

I like reading in the bedroom.

Put the goggles and the book in the bathroom.

The telescope goes in the living room, not in the garage.

I like knitting in the living room when there are flowers to smell.

The archery set should stay outdoors.

Level 1 and 2

The recipient and speaker will have a conversation together about their families.

Here is what you will talk about:

- · Where you live
- Your parents' names
- Where they were born
- If you have any brothers or sisters
- If you are married
- If you have any children

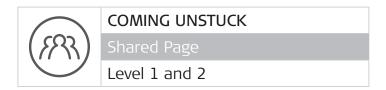

Ask a question from the list. After the recipient responds, add a relevant comment and then check the recipient's understanding of the comment. If the recipient has a misunderstanding of the question or comment, refer to the strategies on the next page.

Have a conversation together about your families. Talk about a range of topics as they come up naturally.

If the recipient has a misunderstanding of the question or comment, refer to the strategies on the next page.

If the recipient does not hear or understand, practise using the Repair Strategies below:

"We're going to the airport", I didn't hear what time).  you heard part of the sentence  Using a question (e.g., Where did you say the game is being held?)  Using stress on a word (e.g. The blue jeans are on sale?)  Asking for specific information (e.g., The spaghetti is what?)  Addition  Can you tell me more about?
